Annual Report
2014-15

Department of Lifelong Learning and Extension

is the backbone of our country. Maharashtra is on the 13th number in literacy at the national level. Govt. ceased the literacy programme from 1997. Nine districts in Maharashtra are below in female literacy. Nanded, Parbhani, Jalna, Hingoli and Beed these five districts have included from Marathwada.

We launched from literacy to extension. Functional literacy is the need of time. Illiterate people are earning through their physical power but qualified youths are not able to do the physical work. Youths must be acquired the new skills and technique for their well being. There is a need to create the loyalty and honesty in the mind of people about the society and nation.

Subsequent to this Prof. Dr. Sardarsing Bainade delivered the lecture on 'Extension & development' and Dr. Anand Wagh delivered the lecture on 'Students Counseling and Career Guidance'.
