ALUMNI RESEARCH MEET

NATIONAL SEMINAR on 'Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar and Social Reforms in India With Special Reference to Marathwada'

History produces few people who leave such an indelible mark on the society that their life comes to be seen as a metaphor for liberty, as an icon for progress and change. One such person, who was a rare combination of immense knowledge, exceptional political prowess and an unwavering commitment to social change, was Dr BR Ambedkar. Trained as an economist and a lawyer, he is credited to be the key ideologue of institutions that form the backbone of India, of institutions such as The Reserve Bank of India (which was based on the ideas that he presented to the Hilton Young Commission), and of nothing less than edifice of this nation - the Constitution of India - the drafting committee of which he chaired. Still, his greatest achievements are in the sphere of ideas, politics and social change that shaped the character of the nation, India and of democracy as conceived by the world at large. Dr Bhim Rao Ambedkar, or dearly known as Baba Saheb Ambedkar in India, it is apt to understand his contributions in the domain of ideology, politics and social reform so that in these perilous times, we can draw inspiration from this fountainhead of equality and justice and make this world a better place. The seminar will bring light to the various social, religious and educational reforms brought to Indian Society by Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar with reference to their influence in the Marathwada region where through his ideology and educational reforms he brought sea changes in the society and created social transformation on pathways of equality and justice.
