Welcome to Aurangabad

The Rich Cultural Heritage: International Tourist Destination

Aurangabad is known all over the world for Ajanta, Ellora Caves, which is the world Heritage Monuments and Bibi-Ka-Mukbara- a replica of Taj Mahal. Adorned with natural beauty and rich historicity, Aurangabad is a great attraction for tourists from all over the world. The history of Aurangabad, a city in Maharashtra, India, dates to 1610, when it was founded by Malik Amber, the Prime Minister of Murtaza Nizam Shah of Ahmednagar, on the site of a village called Kharki. In 1653 when Prince Aurangzeb was appointed the viceroy of the Deccan for the second time, he made Fatehnagar his capital and called it Aurangabad. Aurangabad is sometimes referred to as Khujista Bunyad by the Chroniclers of Aurangzeb's region. It's the World Tourism Destination and also known for Paithan, Daulatabad Fort and Ghrushneshwar temple. The spiritual places like Saibaba Shirdi is near of Aurangabad. Aurangabad is 400 km away from Mumbai and around 586 km away from Hyderabad and 250 km away from Pune and well connected by air, train and road.

United Nations Children's Fund

United Nations Children's Fund, Maharashtra Field Office

The United Nations Children's Fund has been working as an agent of change in Maharashtra since 1950 on child survival, development, protection and participation – the four rights categories of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC), a global treaty to which India became a signatory in 1992. For over 6 decades UNICEF has been partnering with the Government of Maharashtra to implement programmes for the development of children and women in the state. It adopts a strong rights-based approach and a combination of cross-cutting strategies – capacity development, decentralisation and improved governance, partnerships, social inclusion for equity, and knowledge management in line with national policies. Its five programme priorities are Reduction of Stunting; Reduction of Neo-natal Mortality; Reduction of Open Defecation; All Children in School and Learning; and Protection from Violence and Exploitation. UNICEF is also working on all 17 Sustainable Development Goals.
